

Newsletter September 2020

- Happy Birthday this month to Brenda Chapman, Sheila Hackney, Norma Sales, Karen Nesling and Lorraine McGeoghan.
- This month we should have been celebrating one year in the Village Hall, where has the time gone to?
- Nettleham Village Hall has re-opened its doors this month, sadly we cannot resume our meetings. We must follow the government guidelines and the risk factor to us all is too great. We would be unable to provide the excellent social gatherings as we used to. Our usual Thursday morning slots are going to be used for a keep fit class until we can come back. Rest assured the Thursday mornings are ours again once we need them.
- BBC Radio Lincolnshire every Friday morning at 10.00am have a question and answer session on Covid19 with the Lincolnshire's Chief Medical Officer, Professor Derek Ward, should you wish to keep up to date with the current situation.
- Visit Lincoln is promoting The Hidden Disabilities Sunflower for people with hidden disabilities such as dementia. Wearing the Hidden Disability Sunflower discreetly indicates to people around the wearer - shop staff, health professionals, police etc that you may need additional support. If you are interested in having a Hidden Disability Lanyard, please let us know.
- Thought for the month –

When someone is going through a storm, your silent presence is more powerful than a million empty words.
